The Alexis Kate Special Education Teacher's Scholarship is a $1,000 scholarship presented annually to a worthy college student who has declared a special education major and has also demonstrated extracurricular commitment to the field. This award was made possible through the fund-raising efforts of Steve Nelson whose niece was diagnosed with autism at 17 months of age and subsequently received early intervention services through Eden's infant and toddler program. Mr. Nelson rode his bike 1,800 miles from New Jersey to Florida in order to raise money to create an endowed scholarship fund for students planning special education careers.
